

baking so famous throughout New England.

This same authority went on to say that the old-time "baking day" is not nearly so great an institution. Whenever a delicious aid to a dessert formerly, in those days it was not a night, the woman of to-day man spent a greater part of her time hours to Nasturtium, Amapa, Lotus, or in the kitchen. She was a busy, sturdy, strong wifes, much greater significance to the reputation by the National Biscuit Company of a product than to the social family. The mother goodness of the duties which play so important a factor strips and the cooling, variety in the taste of the biscuits, and layers of woman.

Nowadays, however, and thank God that is simply irresistible, to a nation-wide plan of rolling over our mamas, when the need is for soda fresh products of all kinds, we can see how readily the mind turns sands of Kennedy's Special Oatmeal Crackers, with the perfect soda from many a home, and the perfect time—the therefor instant—of the National Oatmeal Crackers.

They are called

"Commons" because they are an everyday staple. But the name, Kennedy's SPECIAL COMMONS, gives little idea of the tender texture and wholesome superiority of these particular crackers, or of their adaptability for every meal.

Sold by the pound.
